

My feet, around my heels, developed this thick skin that appeared to be out of control.

Once it was soaked you could begin to remove it, but it was spreading.

I used tea tree oil and kept after it and thought I had won the battle!

However, it came back and I finally made an appointment with the podiatrist who was stumped.

Since my visit wasn't until the following week, I decided to try and use the Pure Herb Olive Leaf and cancelled my follow up visit.

Thank you, Olive Leaf!
